As to Various Things Worn

By Civilized Humanity.

In Men's Underwear especially Crawford's prices are impossible to meet, as the $50,000 bankrupt stock of R. K. Davis enables this firm to make unapproachable rates. A few straight-out figures will tell the story, as follows: Men's Fine Sanitary Gray Shirts or Drawers, worth $1 each at the lowest, for

75 Cents Each

Men's Fine All-Wool Camel's Hair Shirts or Drawers for $1.00 each; usual quality sold for $1.50.

Men's Extra Fine All-Wool Derby Ribbed Shirts or Drawers in gray, brown, drab or tan colors, at $1.25 each; same class goods generally brings $5.00 a suit, and for those who prefer scarlet medicated flannel shirts the Davis stock furnishes an All-Wool garment with double back and front, in all sizes, for

$1.50 Each
Which would cost you $2.00 in a gents' furnishing house.

The Corset Stock holds its own with every other of the forty-eight departments in the house, always having something specially interesting and profitable to offer its patrons. A couple of this week's "items" will be sufficient to call attention to it:

London, Oct. 15 .- The two final volumes of Lecky's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century," being the seventh and eighth, appeared to-day. They are taken up largely with Irish history. In discussing the rk and political career of Henry Grattan, the great Irish orator, Mr. Lecky says:

"While Grattan always maintained with viction was that the true interests of England and Ireland were inseperable."

Mr. Lecky shows that the absenteelsm of landlords has been responsible in a very high degree for the infamous abuses which have been developed in the management of the Irish property. At the same time the author points out that the improvidence and ignorance of the Irish people have been the principal causes in creating the very serious congestion of population in certain portions of Ireland, where the soil is miserable and ed to sustain so many peo-The agrarian organization of later years, Mr. Lecky says, has succeeded in establishing a savage tyranny over much of Ireland. CHtCAGO, Ill., Oct. 15 .- The Daily News orints interviews with a number of railroad commerce law. In introducing them, the News says the law is viewed with hostile eyes act, if it is to be materially obeyed, will have to be amended. J. W. J. K. Armsby, the largest shipper, asserted the law at present is little more than a dead letter. The railroads, said he, are cutting rates just as if it had no sxistence. The law is unjust in that it does not take into consideration the principle of quantity, which obtains in all commercial transactions. Chairman Walker of the Interstate Commerce Railway Association and formerly a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, said: "I am not one of those who oppose the law on principle, for I believe that a law of the kind is essential for the best interests of the community. At present, instead of being a mutual arrangement, it practically legislates in a direction prejudicial to the interests of the roads without giving the public any benefit. An amendment which should permit a division of the traffic among the roads would be a decided improvement. Then, again, there are features in the Earlish system which might be looked into with profit, One of them is that all applications for charters have to go before Parliament and are there inquired into, and it it is found that the country to be covered is aiready well supplied, the application is refused. This restrains undue competition and prevents a rainous waste of material. Where a privilege of that kind exists an enactment regulating rates is easy to carry into effect."

Quite a stir was created in political circle this morning when it got out that the saloon keepers were raising a fund to be used for political purposes, and as it was said that their object was to fight a particular candi-date there was a good deal of sourrying candidates were on the anxious bench, wontering if he was the one against whom the wrath of the liquor men was directed, and their anxiety was not soon relieved because information concerning the action o the liquor men was zealously withheld curiosity was intensified when it was further reported that they had issued a circular. o rather that their association had issued one, assessing the members $10 each. The circular which was sent out is an odd political document. It is as follows: THE CIRCULAR.

LIQUOR DEALERS' BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION OF MISSOURI, CENTRAL COUNCIL NO. 2. S. T. LQUIS. Oct. 2. DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—An emergency has arisen for charitable purposes, and the duty of the Board of Directors is to raise a fund of not less than $1,000.

JOHN BLOESER, Secretary.

Below this two sections of the by-laws are quoted, one authorizing the Beard of Directors to spend money without accounting to anyone for it, the other giving the Board of Directors the power to raise money by assessment. It will be noticed that the 'charitable purposes' are not stated, and the section from the by-laws is quoted.

THE SECRETARY TALKS.

By. John Bloeser, the Secretary, was found at his place of business on Pine street, and when teld that the inquirer sought information concerning the circular he laughed and said.

"Well, there is a man running for the Legislature on the Union Labor ticket who is a crank Prohibitionist, and we want to beat him. He was in Joe Brown's office, employed there as clerk, and a year ago some of the down-town saloonkeepers went to Brown and told him they didn't think that he was the right sort of a man to have in a public office, and they would like to have him removed. Brown discharged him. I don't remember what his name was, but he is on the Union Labor ticket for the Legislature."

"Who wrote that olroular?"

"Mho wrote that circular?"
"I did, but rather not have anything said about the circular. It is to raise money for charitable purposes. You know our members get sick, and we have to have money. have anything said about them."

TO HELF POHLMAN.

Mr. Blocser's statement of the expenses is no doubt correct, but they hardly come under the phrase, "charitable purposes." He expressed a doubt whether the members would pay the assessment, so it may be that the candidate will have nothing to fear from the liquor men. It is said, however, that no candidate for the Legislature is the man the liquor men want to fight, but that the fund they are raising is to be used to help Sheriff Pohlman to re-election. The liquor men are said to be interested in his election and this money is to be used to aid him.

High-Priced Union Labor Leaders.

The Union Labor leaders are greatly worked up over the refusal of the Republican canments asked. The Labor bosses are not at all disposed to be modest in their demands. They ask 5 per cent of the salaries of the candidates shey have indorsed, and this is considerably more than they are willing to pay. The leaders now threaten to make some changes on their ticket unless the amounts they have demanded are forthcoming. They are considerably worked up over the refusal of the Republicans in the Fourth Representative District to nominate Frank Ritchey, one of their candidates. He was put on the Labor blaster to another than the should be indorsed. Filley was not able, however, it appears, to deliver everything he promised. There is also much soreness over the action of the First Representative District Republicans in throwing Kirwin and Eaton overboard. They were promised places on the Republican theory in the Campaign of Henry Ait's supporters and they were in a humor to get even with Filley for the tactics he pursued in the City Convention, which resulted in Ait's deleas for the Circuit Clerkship nomination. The delegates knaw of Filley's deal with the Labor bosses, and to aquare up accounts with 'de ele man' upset his game, so far as it concerned that district, by nominating three straight Republicans.

Central Committeeman W. H. Blake of the Twenty-second Ward, who resigned yesterday, is emphatic in his demunciation of the Union Labor politicians. Reappointed Good Men.

Mr. Williams, the Recorder of Voters, wi asked this morning if there was any truth in the claim of the Democratic leaders that he had picked out live, active young men to rephad picked out live, active young men to represent the Republican party on the Beard of Revision and the Committee of Frecinct Canvassers and that he had selected old fogics of no energy or enthusiasm to represent the Democratic party on the same board and the same canvassing committee. It was the first he had heard of the complaint and he became indignant at once when told of it and denied that there was any foundation whatever for the charge. "I have done my duty," he said, "and I don't care a straw what complaints they make. The members of the Moard of Revision are pretty much the fame as the members of the last board and I consider them all honorable men and all espable men. I have selected as good men to represent one party as the other to revise the registration ilsis, and, as I said before, I don't care a straw what the politicians say about it. Now, that's all I have to say. I won't talk any more about it, and there's no use wasting your time trying to get me to," and Mr. Williams turned to receive the reports of some of his precint canvassers.

The old gentleman has a great deal to de at present, and it takes his best efforts to keep his wite together and not get rattled. The position is a very trying one under the mest favorable circumstances, and it is made still more so by the constant complaints of secople who, couldn't get registered on account of the crawd ahead of them the last day, and who think it the duty of the Recorder to register, them now.

Late last evening Recorder of Voters Willlams appointed F. W. Beekman reviser for the Sixth Ward, to succeed Dr. Carson, and John H. Wille for the Twelfth Ward, to take the place of Patrick Moran. Both Moran and Carson declined to serve. Beekman is a Republican and Wille represents the Demograts. They took their seats in the board immediately after their appointment.

"The farmer was the last to learn, but his eyes are open now. The advance made in the prices of various articles and the announcement in the circulars sent out by dealers that the advance was directly due to the tariff bill has convinced them that there is nothing in the Republican policy for them, but that on the contrary they will have to rely on the Democratic party entirely for an adjustment of the tariff, which will be equitable and fair to their class." "Do you find that the Republicans are mak-ing the fight for the Legislature which is re-

"Yes, they are bending every energy in that direction, undoubtedly. Up in our part of the country an open acknowledgement of their willingness to trade off votes for country offices for votes for the Legislature was made. But I do not entertain any idea that their fight will be successful. The next Legislature will undoubtedly be a farmers' Legislature, but it will be Democratic."

"Will be Democratic."

"No. I had intended to, but I have changed my plans, and will but in what spare time I have in Wilson's district. There will be a close fight there, for Ford is a strong man. Wilson lives in the only Democratic County in the District Platte and will have to rely on a great big vote there. He made a missake in not moving to St. Joseph, but he will do so immediately after the election. I do not think Forman needs my help. From what I hear I think he is all right. He is a very clever gentleman, a good worker, and the Eighteenth Illinois District could not do better than elect him."

Allege Ballot-Box Stuffing.

There is considerable ill-feeling among some of the Democratic workers in the Seventh Constabulary District caused by the Lynch for that nomination. At the primary Lynch for that nomination. At the primary MeSoriey carried all the precincts outside of the Fifteenth Ward by large majorities. Lynch lives in the Fifteenth Ward and Pat McNamara, the committeeman of that ward, wanted him on the ticket. He represented Lynch's interests and on the evening of the primary presented returns from the Fifteenth Ward which went to show that Lynch had carried it by over one thousand majority, though there are not that many Democratic voters in the ward. O'Malley's Ferlora Hope.

It is now considered probable that the Supreme Court will not pass on the O'Malley andamus against Secretary of State Lesueur until after the election. Late yesterday afternoon the Court granted Thomas J. Rowe six days to take depositions and subsequently allowed the Secretary of State ten days thereafter to take testimony in rebuttal. This will carry the case up to November 1, and it is the impression that the court will not pass upon the points raised by O'Mailey in less than a week after that time.
The election takes place November 4, and as the matter now stands the Supreme Court will not reach a decision until after that day.
Mr. O'Neill's nomination is accepted by everybody as the regular action of the party, with the exception of O'Mailey and a few who still follow the Barrett-Macklin-O'Meara combination, and for this reason but little interest is centered in the mandamus proceedings in the Supreme Court. until after the election. Late yesterday after-

SEVERAL WEDDINGS OF INTEREST IN ST LOUIS SOCIETY.

I., and grandson of Mrs. Wayman frow. The spacious old church was filled to overflowing with wedding guests long before he appointed hour. This was a golden wedding, and yellow was the color scheme of the sected with foliage plants, from which gleamed the pale yellow discs of dahlias and star-like chrysanthemums, and the altar was matching perfectly in tone the bride maids gowns. The marriage cere-monial was conducted in pure English style. At the appointed heur the white sur-pliced choristers appeared from the Yestry and marched down the siste singing the bridal shorns. At the deor they met the bridal cortege, and turning led the procession to the foot of the chancel. After the choristers came the ushers, Messrs. Edgar Ames, John Bryan, George Markham, Jack Shipley, Eben Richards and Dr. Elisha Gregory. Following them were the bridemaids gowned in pal vellow mouseline de sole, made very full, same shade. The bodices were made with long points, surplice over the shoulders and finished with folds of the gauze and sashes of narrow ribbons of the same. The puffed elbow sleeves were met by long gloves, and in their hands they carried bunches of roses. These young ladies were Miss Virginia Wharton of Wash-ington, Miss Irene Semple of Alabama, Miss Birdie Brown of Tennessee, Miss Mary Clark, Miss May Alice McLaran, Miss Isabel Carr of Boston and Misses Minnie Scott and Sucie Turner, the latter being the maid of honor. After them came the bride, majestic and beautiful, leaning upon the arm of her brother, Mr. Henry Ames. At the chance they were met by the groom and his brother, Mr. Nino Cushman, who was best man, and Rev. Dr. Schuyler, who read the betrothal service there and completed the marriage service at the altar—all very impressive and

Rev. Dr. Schuyler, who read the Detrothal service at the altar—all very impressive and beautiful.

The bride was a perfect picture in her wedding gown of jassamine white satin, made after the Elizabethean fashion, with panniers at the side over a petticoat covered with superf flounces of rare old point lace disappearing beneath the lone court train. The bodice was made with long points, surpliced in frent, the high collar of satin and lace framing the lovely face in which the lily vied with the rose. Her lovely golden brown hair was crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms, from which floated the misty folds of her wedding well, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of bride roses.

After the ceremony the refrain of the bridal chorus was again taken jup and accompanied their footstens as they left the church. At family residence on Lindeil boulevard there was a reunion to which only the families of the happy pair and very, very close friends were livited. Here, too, the floral decorations were very handsome. The library in which they received their friends was decked with pisk roses and white dahlias harmonizing with the blue sliken hangings, and from an arch of pink roses and ribbons. In the parlor where the hangings and decorations are all yellow, the floral scheme had large red dahlias for the color tone, and in the dining-room, palms and foliage plants were grouped, the beautifully set table furnishing the needed bit of color.

Mrs. Ames wore a handsome gown of pale blue satin brocade with point lace and rare jewels. Mrs. Henry Turner, her eldest and front, with elbow sleeves.

Mrs. Ashley D. Scott, the bride's aunt, wore an exquisite gown of lavender moire and china elik combined, the bodice en V back and front, the draperies and bodice trimmed with duchess lace, and bands of ostrich feathers, topas necklace and jewels. Mrs. Jackson of Illinois, the bride's cousin, wore black gros grain with threadiace. Mr. and Mrs. Cushman leave this evening for a wedding tour. When they return they will keep house on Cab Brophy, is will be remembered, died on Tuesday afternoon at the Mulianphy Hospital. At that time a fracture of the skull was supposed to be the only daugerous injury which the patient had received.

At the Morgue, however, the post-mortem examination made by Coroner Frank and Dr. Ludwig developed two deep knife wounds in the back of the head at the base of the brain. It was one of these wounds which touched the spinal gord and caused the inflammation which resulted in death. It had been given out that the old man died from the effects of an over-indulgence in liquor. Mrs. Gavin too, had informed Officer Brady, who, accidentally discovered Brophy as the Hespital, that the man had failen downstairs while drunk. Capt. Klei was suspicious and ordered that the woman's 22 year - old son, George Gavin be arrested. At the Fourth District Police Station the prisoner admitted that he had quarreled with Brophy and had 'pushed' him down stairs because the old man had drawn a knife on him. Later it was learned that a considerable amount of money was missing. Indeed she at first disclaimed all knowledge of a certificate of deposit for $1,027, which was afterwards found in her possession. To cap the climar, when the police went to her house on Wednesday morning she showed them Brophy's trunk in the yard and insisted that burgiars had entered the house during the night and carried the trunk from the old man's room. Brophy's money belt, in which he is said to have carried about $5,000 in cash, could not be found until Wednesday evening, when Detectives Gocking and Maloney discovered it is the trunk which had been thoroughly searched twice before.

The Man Who Defaced It Fined by Judge

The defendants were fined $10 and cost in each action.

Ries is the propietor of the Laclede Shooting Gailery, while Fellows and Cowan admitted that they were in the employ of the Cottrill Bill Posting Co. About a month ago the defendants posted a number of shooting galiery advertising posters on the cramental signs which had been painted on the east and north sides of the fence. The work was done at an early hour in the morning. Central District police officers were on the watch, however, and the men made a breakfast on bread and bologna in the hold-over.

When the informations were drawn up in the cases Attorney Thomas B. Harvey slieged that the fence was the property of the city of St. Louis. On two previous actions of a similiar nature he had alleged that the structure was the private property of the firm of McNair & Farrish. The court had discharged the defendants on the ground that MoNair & Farrish had no proper title in the fence, it having been erected before the Municipal Assembly, in executive session, had passed on the petition which had been submitted.

This moraing Judge Cady decided that the defendants were clearly guilty of a violation of the city or dinance relating to the destruction or defacing of public property and assessed them each $10 and costs. By this action he also decided that the title to the fence was vested in the city of St. Louis, the structure having been erected on city ground without the owner's consent. Mr. Ries, acting for himself and the other defendants, filed the proper bond and appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction.

THE influence of the Louisiana lottery swindlers will soon be confined to New Orleans, unless the Democratic candidates for Prosecuting Attorney and Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction in this city should happen to be elected.

THE Democratic Congressional Committee has a magnificent array of .camascendency in the House.

THE reiteration of the genuineness of the Mormon manifesto by President WOODRUFF and its acceptance in good faith by Gov. It will no longer taint the moral or political road be extended from 1914 to 1964, the road atmosphere.

THE proposed organization of a local manufacturers' club is an excellent idea. Good work in the way of advancing St. Louis interests is awaiting a club of this kind. One especially fine object of attention from either a club or individual manufacturers is the census of manufacturing statistics for this city which is now being taken. This work should receive all the aid that citizens can give it.

GOV. CAMPBELL in his message to the Legislature clearly points out the blunder which has been made in constituting the governing boards of Cincinnati apfrom the Governor of the State. St. Louis has had some experience in that line with the Police Board and the lesson of the Cincinnati boards might profitably be taken to heart in this city.

THE Supreme Court will take testimony in the O'Neill-O'Malley case in the Eighth District, and the case may be regarded as settled. The evidence of fraud in the primaries on the part of the O'Malley gang is so overwhelming that there can be no question of the court's decision. The would-be committee bosses in the Eighth District are the most discredited and disgruntled pack of political deadbeats in this country.

THE King of Portugal appears to be in an exceedingly embarrassing position. The British are subjecting him to gross humiliation in Africa, and he must declare war or run the risk of a revolution which will deprive him of his throne. On the other hand, if he declares war, defeat is inevitable, and the danger of losing his throne will be fully as great in that event. The throne of Portugal is not a bed of Poses at present.

CENSUS SUPERINTENDENT PORTER has unbosomed himself to an English interviewer on the subject of the tariff. He declared that the McKinley bill is a great boon to this country and made it appear that the people are enthusiastic protectionists. This is perhaps proper on the part of a professional advocate of high protection such as PORTER has been for some years past, but we venture to assert that his interview will make queer reading after Nov. 4.

If the Democrats elect a majority of the Fifty-second Congress at the November election, the wisdom of having a National Committee and a Congressional Committee in a comatose condition will be thoroughly vindicated. The Democratic committees under the control of BRICE and FLOWER are doing nothing for their party in the closely contested districts, while a five-story building in Washington, filled with an army of clerks by the Republican committees, covers night and day more business activity than any other house in that city. Republican speakers and a great variety of Republican documents are provided for every close district, while the Democratio fight, as carried on by the party committees, is nothing but a still hunt for an imaginary tidal wave.

THE people of the Eighth District know very well who is the Democratic nominee for Congress in that district, and are not waiting for the Supreme Court to tell them the name of the man who was nominated unanimously by the Democratic voters at primaries ordered by the recognized authority of the party, and open to every candidate and every Democratic voter. The Secretary of State, acting on the advice of the Attorney General, and on as conclusive proof of all the facts as any Supreme Court deposition mill can HAM. The President can do both, a right gather, has put O'NEILL's name on the regular party ticket, and there it will be THE name of the winner of the SUNDAY that official act by keeping an inconcluon election day. The attempt to discredit sive proceeding pending in the Supreme Court till after the election, is. too transparent a fraud to deceive anybody.

THE tendency of a President to promote his Attorney-General to the Supreme for a man with a bar'l in the Eighth Bench has been manifested so often that Congressional District is limited to the HARRISON should nominate WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON MILLER to succeed the great and lamented SAMUEL FREEMAN MILLER. But there is another Indianian whose promotion to the vacant position would promote the President himself in the esteem of the public. PEOPLE'S FORUM.

In the Wrong Column. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Now and then an item appears under the preceedings of the Council, which ought to be transferred to the column of wit and humor. For example: Mr. Comfort's recent resolution that the franchise of the Linde for this little concession to pay to the city the enormous sum of $3,000 per annum during these years.

The attention of citizens is respectfully invited to the sequel of this modest resolution.

If Mr. Comfort offered the resolution in fun, as it were, at the request of the company, he, of course, does not mean to support it himself.

If, however, he really thinks the sum named is a fair return for this extension of franchise, will be not kindly read up a little on the subject of franchises, and take a drive along the numerous branches of the Lindell line, and exercise his powers of speculation enough to imagine the number of people who will probably like to patronize this road in the middle of the twentieth century. Respectfully,

"Oh, yes," he said. "This fellow Wilson is under indictment in Cincinnati under the old law. He is an old agent of the lettery company."

"Can a prosecution be begun on that evidence?" was asked.

"Yes. But it belongs to the Cincinnati Inspector."

"Yes. But it belongs to the Cincinnati Inspector."

"Are any steps being taken to enforce this law?"

"Oh, yes. We are watching the company and we will crush out that business, but it will take a listle time. These people are using the express companies to send their mail to distributing points, and from there it is scattered over the city and deposited in various boxes. The cierks in the Post-office at New Orleans know the lottery mail. They soon grow familiar with the handwriting of the clerks who address the letters, and then the letters are all of the same size and thickness. But if a bunch of them is sent to St. Louis by express and they are scattered.

clerks who address the series, and size and thickness. But if a bunch of them is sent to St. Louis by express and they are scattered over the city, some mailed in Carondelst and some in Baden, it is not possible to keep trace of them.

"By the way, while you are on the subject of the lottery, call attention to one thing. Some newspapers print a city edition containing the lottery advertisement, and a mailedition which dues not contain it. Now of a person should buy a copy of the city edition at a the watand and finding something interesting is it which would interest a friend elsewhere, should send that paper to him through the mail its would be guilty of violating the law, and the worst of it is that he might be indicted at either apu of the line where the paper was mailed or where it was received either. It would be a serious matter for anyone to mail apaper to a friend and then find that he had been indicted if, 000 miles away, in a place where no one knew him or knew whether he was innocent of any intended violation of the law. People should be very careful how they send away papers."

"About this case, Mr. Dice, upon this evidence outly you withdraw from the mails a letter addressed to James H. Wilson, Covington, Ky?"

"No. A scaled letter must be delivered, no matter who it is addressed to. Here is a copy of our instructions which I received to day. The gist of the instructions is contained in the first two clauses, which are as follows:

delivery, except that the delivery of registered letters at the office of destination shall be withheld when the Postmastar-General has issued specific orders, under the provisions of Sec. 3929, to that effect."

District Attorney Geo. D. Reynolds was seen next, and the interview with him was brief but increating. His letters were presented, and the reporter said:
"Mr. Reynolds, I want to ask you about this letter?"

brief but interesting. His letters were presented, and the reporter and:

"Mr. Reynolds, I wans to ask you about this letter?"

Mr. Reynolds took it and looked at it, and then in a business-like way turned to his assistant, Mr. Johnson, and said:

"Well, Mr. Johnson, look up the law."

"I wan't give an opinion for publication. If you present this letter for an investigation we will look into it."

"I present that letter as a newspaper man."

"Well, I'll-sive no opinion. I won't say a word," and Mr. Reynolds sought the seciusion of his private office.

Mr. Johnson, his assistant, pointed to one portion of one of the circulars and said:

"That alone is enough; that is a violation of the law, isn't is?"

"I suppose so," replied the reporter.

Mr. Cohoon, another assistant, said he thought that sending the letter through the mail was undoubtedly a violation of the law.

But the District Attorney did not care to know anything about the infraction of the lottery law unless the matter was forced upon him by a presentation of the complete evidence, then he would investigate the case. The knowledge of a crime, he did not seem to consider a matter which demanded attention; he would only take notice of unlawful acts when he was requested to investigate them.

What sting the lottery law may have which makes Federal officials so cautious about touching it is something hard to tell, but they certainly do not want to meddle with it unless a case is "presented for investigation," and on the subject, they are, as a rule, as slient as the District Attorney. Such letters as the one Mr. Chipley received have been sent to others, numbers of others, but no effort is being made to find them out or to punish the offenders. Under such an administration the law will be as dead as many others which have been enacted against lotteries but never enforced. many others which have been enacted against lotteries but never enforced.

THE WINTER'S WORK THE PROGRAMME OF THE ETHICAL SOCI-ETY FOR THE COMING SEASON.

The Lecturer Will Take Up the Lives and Deeds of American Statesmen-Hom Gatherings for the Children on Sunday-

HE public exercises of the Ethical Society are to be resumed for the season the coming Sunety are to be re-sumed for the sea-son the coming Sunday morning at 11 a. m., Oct. 19, at Me-monial Hall. The aubject of the opening address by the regular lecturer is to be "Reflections on the Life and Work of the Late the Life and Cardinal Newman.

The society begins now its fifth year of work in St. Louis. The lecturer has been laying out the lines of exort for the coming season so that their tendency and direction can now be given. Besides the discourses on moral questions of general interest there is to be one line of subjects which will be an original undertaking not peretofore tried by the other ethical societies in other cities. The lecturer in observing the work done by the clergy of the church had noticed the value of their discourses on the to him, therefore, whether it might not be way by treating of the leaders of modern hisory. He thinks of making a similar study of the moral development of institutions in the history of America, such as the clergy have made with so much success in like studies in the moral and religious development of the great leaders of the early history of the East. He expects, therefore, to take up for the sub-jects of a part of his addresses this season, an analysis of the life and character of the foundng them and their work just as the churc the character and work of David, Sani or Elian element of religion in every national his work done by earlier statesmen in our coun just as there would be in the history and de the East. He proposes, therefore, to have s statesmen, such as Webster, Clay, Calhoun, andrew Jackson, Adams, Hamilt son, Franklin, and perhaps even Wash-

This will not be done for the purpose of simply giving instruction in the biographies of these men, this having already been done both by the American Statesmen Series, as well as by the addresses of the lecturer who ives his course in this city every spring on American history. It is rather for the purose of using these lives as moral studies, to quicken if possible the sense of respect and awe for the development of our own institu-tions. He has felt that in the treatment of public and social issues of the day there is very often a tendency to neglect their conion with the issues of the past, forgetting perhaps sometimes that these questions of the our are directly connected with the issue and debates and discussions fought and thought about intensely these early founders and leaders in these early founders and leaders in America. The question therefore is whether the sindy and the work of these men may not help to shed a light en the solution of moral difficulties in the social problem of the present day, so that reforms when undertaken may not fail because the method of putting them into execution happens to be contrary to the spirit of the habits on which our history has developed. He wishes if he can to intensity the religiousness of national feeling and the unity of our country, not simply by the fact that we ail live on the same soil, but that we are one people also by the history of our institutions.

The platform will also be occupied several times by other speakers as has been the custom heretofore. Among those who have never been in St. Louis or have not spoken for several years it is been in St. Louis or nave the addresses will eral years it is expected that addresses will be given by Dr. Stanton Celt, who will be on a visit from London this fail, and also by Mr.

Adlar of New York City.

In connection with the Sunday morning work there is also to be organized a Young People's Club, which will meet every few weeks on Wednesday evening and take for the subject of their work the biographies of these leading American statesmen which are to be the topic for a part of the discourses on Sunday morning. They will have short papers, talks and debates among themselves with reference to the character and options of these men, so as by this means in comparing one another's views to understand more clearly what these individuals have done in the past, and by this means to trace the origin of present lastes in the views and work of such early statesmen. The address on Sunday morning will serve as an introduction for this Wednesday evening discussion by laying out the topics and thief points of interest which may furnish the subject for debate. In all this work the lecturer desires to throw around it the surnestness, seriousness and sacredness which he feels belongs to these subjects as much as to the more special questions of theology. These Wednesday evening discussions will be held where the Emerson Club met last year, in the reading room connected with the building where the Sunday morning exercises are held, and they will be open and free to the public in the same way as these addresses on Busuay morning.

HOMS GATHERINGS.

The ethical instruction log the young, which in all the societies is regarded as an essential part of the work, is also to be carried on in a new form this winter. Instead of having a school on Sunday morning in one particular locality, the plan proposed is to substitute home gatherings of the children in different neighborhoods of the city on Sunday afternoons. As the persons interested in the acciety come from so many sections of the city, it is proposed that where a lew families are clety come from so many sections of the city is is proposed that where a few families are living near to one another to have the children come together on Suaday afternoon Then the mother of the family or some frient will read aloud selected material to tall over and discuss. The lecturers of the societies have now for the first time this year arranged all the Bible steries for the young. Prof. Adler several years agained already provided stories of the Old Tests ment, Here in St. Louis this last winter normal class of mothers met together an prepared in the same way the story of the life of Jesus. They went over the whole subjective for seriously, arranged the material from desper consequence, will probably therefore be one of the efforts of the Ethical Society this winter.

THE SOCIETY'S PRACTICAL WORK.

Bedicas the subjects for the Sunday moreing exercises already indicated there may be discourses for example on such themes as the "Indusnee of the 'Passion Play' at Oberanmergan' and 'Forther Studies in the Social Problem.' Prot. Adder is expected to again visit the eity and speak some time in the laster part of the winter. It is possible that either this or the coming year also some one or more of the prominent writers or professors of political science in the East will be invited to come and occupy the pisatorus, as the questions also form part of the work of the Ethical societies. The practical work of the Ethical societies. The practical work of the society previously inaugurated is now more especially in Charge of citizens' committees, so that plans for Domestic Economy Schools, Factory Girls' Clubs and the Work-Instant's Soil-Outure Clubs will be prepared and given on another occasion. The Ethical Society acts with reference to these unner-takings simply as being responsible for them in seeing that their work is darried forward, but at the same time particular care is exercised that firs religious tendencies should not be introduced to bias the work, but that it should be effortly and wholly non-acctarian. As it now stands the helpers in these undertakings are from all sections of the olty and are persons of the most warled religious opinious. The effort is being made to make them strictly city institutions.

The Ethical Society will continue as heretofore the society are simply those who austain it is the city and help the work in the interests of themselves and the community. There is the most explicit understanding that connection with the society does not study for any kit of or form of opinions with reference to the study of the study of the study. The lecturer feels that the query sometimes put to him, "What does your society believe?" His understanding of the work is ustom-House Inspectors Relieve Her of Lot of Smuggled Goods.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 .- Spread out in the selzre room of the Custom-house yesterday was a unique collection of goods which were taken arrived on La Gascogne. The French Line wharf is under the surveillance of one of the harpest-eyed of the women on Surveyor down the gang-plank it was evident to the Inspector that all was not right. A search of firs. Brown's trunks brought to light hair brushes, two evening dresses of velvet and white satin, lamp shades and scores of other articles which would set up a Yankee notion store. These goods were hot in Mrs. Brown's declaration, and the inspector, in extending the inquiry to Mrs. Brown personally, found among her skirts and wearing apparel sixty-four hair switches, thirty-eight pairs of kid gloves and 100 hand kerchiefs. Mrs. Brown was greatly distressed, and some of her friends appealed to Mr. Morgan chiefs. Mrs. Brown was greatly distressed, and some of her friends appealed to Mr. Morgan called at the Custom-house yesterday and said that Mrs. Brown was very poor. From what he had learned he believed that she had gone to Paris and bought the goods with the idea of opening a store in Philadelphia. He was not prepared to say whether Mrs. Brown was a smuggler. The customs authorities say that her conduct was very strange, and that the seizure was warranted. The goods are valued at $1,000. lown the gang-plank it was evident to the

he Remarkable Increase in the Business Done by St. Louis and Its Effect Upon the Hotels—Demands From All Quarters

HE increase in the business done by st. Louis is in no way more marked than in the demands upon the tels, except during periods of festivities, when crowds were attracted for were easily able to give all comers such to send away a guest because there was no happened during ordinary times. The hote accommodations were ample for the trade and while all houses were full enough to yield a good profit, none were crowded for any length of time.

GREAT INCREASE IN BUSINESS. Within the past six months there has been a great change in this respect. The business of the city that is done through drummers has increased three or four fold, there have been daily for quarters who seldom visited St. mands on the hotels have been far greater than they could supply. At nearly first-class hostelry in the city it is a regular thing to furn away customers because no quarters could be found for them, and many are put to very considerable inconvenience on this account. A. S. Brooks of New York, who visits the city regularly four times a year, said this morning: there is one thing more than another that St. Louis needs, it is another first-class hotel. I have been on the road for upwards of twenty years, and know as many commercial travelers as anyone in the country. I have talked with them a great deal, and all express the opinion that if St. Louis had larger hotel accom nodations, their trade in this city would be

"THE TENAGRAUN."

His Great Grandson Talks of the Mullanphy Claim,

And Mrs. John Powers of Baltimore Visits St. Louis Next Week.

The Life Work of the Heirs of John Welsh Approaching Its Climax-Trip to Ireland After Evidence-An Entire Parish of Witnesses-Experience of the Old Claimant in St. Louis-The Mullanphy Silence.

HE great grandson of "John of the Trees," or in the musical Irish tongue "Shaun the Tenagraun," the picturesque by-name Welsh of Kilkenny dred years ago planting of ash trees on his estate, has been seen by a Post-Disparch reporter and led to talk of the remarkable claim against the Mul anphy estate in St. Louis now being pushed by his family.

He was found at his daily labor in the mammoth plant of the Charles Pope Glucose Works of Venice, Ill., where he fills the comparatively humble position of a "stenciller;" or brander of the barrels and hogsheads of manufactured product turned out by that concern. The reporter's request, preferred to Mr. Pope himself, that he be allowed to see "Mr. John W. Powers, one of the employes," was complied with, and a workman sent to notify the son of the "Mullanphy claimant" that he was wanted. After a very brief wait the figure of a man was seen approaching at a distance through the works, and Mr. Pope

'That's Powers." As a leading character in a case at law that s destined perhaps to be as endless, to develop as many dramatic outcroppings, and it may be, as many pathetle results, as the immortal chancery suit of "Jarndyce vs. Jarn-dyce," the personal appearance of Powers was studied with interest. He is a man whom one is bound to at least respect on sight, for he bears every indication of being an honest and steady workman, one who earns his daily bread by the sweat of his curiosity as to who could want to see him "working hours." Dressed sult of overalls, stained and during "working hours." Dressed in a suit of overalls, stained and dusty from contact with the packages his labors obliged him to handle, his face tanned and roughened, with a reddish mustache shading a rather resolute mouth, quiet gray eyes studying the reporter cainly, a tail but rather lean frame, one well-hardened hand resting on the head of a barrel at his side, Powers did not look like an "heir to millions," but made a typical Irish-American mechanic.

DID NOT WANT TO TALK.

The reporter explained why he had called, stating that he had been directed to Mr. Powers by St. Louis friends of the Powers family, the Burrs.

"That's how you came to know I was ever here?" asked Powers quietly.

"Certainly. Mr. Burr told the Post-Dis-Patch what he knew of your mother's life in St. Louis, and of your family claim against the Mullamphy estate, and said that you would doubtless be willing to discuss the famous case."

"Yes, I'm sorry," was the blunt response. "I don't want to figure in the newspapers, and would much rather my name had not been mentioned. I don't want anything printed as coming from me, and so the best thing I can do is not to talk."

"Is there any special reason why you should remain silent, now that the calim of your family has been made public?"

"There is a good reason," said Powers in a decisive way. "The case is now in the hands of a lawyer. It will soon be on trial in the courts, and that will be the proper time for us, not only to tell the story, but to produce the evidence which we think supports the story." Then after a moment's hesitation he said.

the evidence which we think supports the story." Then ster a moment's hesitation he said:

THE MULLAPPHY CLAIMANT COMING.

'Shesides that, my mother will be here next week, and I don't think it is wise to talk about the ease too much before it comes to trial."

'Does your mother visit St. Louis on account of the beginning of these proceedings against the Mullanuby estate?"

'Certainly. That is her only reason for coming, and it will be the first time she has been in St. Louis since the family left that city for Maryland two years ago."

'Will suit be instituted in the St. Louis courts, then, Mr. Powers?"

"I don't know. I can't tell what course the lawyers have decided upon until I see my mother. I have not yet been fully told what has been done in Baltimore, and so is would be impossible for me to say now what the next step will be."

"Have the principal features of the claim against the Mullanphy estate heen correctly stated in the papers?"

"Well, yes. I have also received a copy of the Baltimore Som of last Thursday which has the facts of the case practically correct."

The story as told by the Baltimore paper appeared in the Post-Disparcia en the same date, together with the startling fact that in St. Louis nothing was known of John Mullanphy's life in Ireland, and that an undoubted mystery hung over that very portion of it which was touched by the claim of the Weish helrs. Mr. Powers' attention was called to the fact that in that account it was stated that old John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the helrs of John Weish "in his last will and test tament," whereas in that document, which was published in the Post-Disparch on the wind was published in the Post-Disparch on the same and the work of John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the helrs of John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the helrs of John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the helrs of John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the helrs of John Mullanphy had left the legacy to the help was published in the Post-Disparch on the same and the work of J anphy's defaication that he was compelled to bandon his lease on his homestead in County Kilkenny. The tehant succeeding him was also named Welsh, and it is said that the fact has given rise to many complications that have taken years to unravel. Old John Welsh always persistently refused to divulge the name of the man who, he claimed, had taken nis money, because he did not wish the reputation of his former partner and close associate to suffer among his neighbors and friends. Mrs. Powers is atso authority for the statement that her grandfather was known by the romantic appellistics of "Shaun, the Tenagrann." With the arrival of the 73-year-old claimant in St. Louis, the famous case against the Mullanphy estate will assume its most interesting phase, and it is extremely probable that Mrs. Powers' visit is undertaken for the purpose of beginning legal proceedings in the St. Louis courts.

MISSOURI'S GRAND LODGE

TO-DAY'S MEETING IN MASONIC HALL AN INTERESTING ONE.

Reports of the Different Officers Rend-At Invitation to the Exposition This Even-ing Accepted—The Appeintment of Committees by the Grand Master-Election of Officers Te-Morrow.

The Missouri Grand Lodge of A. F. an A. M. commenced the second day's work of the annual convention this morning in Masonic Hall at 9:30 and the routine work was at once taken up. The report of the Grand Secretary was an interesting one and in a Grand Lodge for the past year. The report issued during the past year to the following named lodges: Kennett Lodge, No. 68, Ken nett, Dunklin County; Braymer Lodge, No. 135, Braymer, Caldwell County; Hermon Lodge, No. 187, Liberal, Barton County; Claffit Lodge, No. 229, Protem, Taney County; Canopy Lodge, No. 284, Aurora, Lawrence County; Urich Lodge, No. 286, Urich, Henry County; Marceline Ledge, No. 481, Marceline, Linn County; Stella Lodge, No. 588, Stella, McDonald County; Dawn Lodge, No. 589, Dawn, Livingston County; Winigan Lodge, Lodge, No. 541, St. Clair, Franklin County; Ferguson Lodge, No. 542, Ferguson, St. Louis

The following-named lodges were created during the past term: Monett Lodge, Monett, Barry County; Portageville Lodge, Portageville, New Madrid County; Clinton Lodge, Clinton, Henry County; Fides Ledge, Kansas City, Jackson County: South Gate Lodge, Kansas City, Jackson County; Mexico Lodge, Mexico, Audrain County; Prairie Hill Lodge, Prairie Hill, Chariton County; Amazonia Lodge, Amazonia, Andrew County; Galt Lodge, Galt, Grundy County; Southwest Lodge, Southwest City, McDonald County; West Prairie Lodge, Clarkton, Dunklin County; Zalma Lodge, Bollinger's Mills, Bollinger County; Summerville Lodge, Summerville, Texas County; Foster Lodge, Foster, Bates County; Clarksburg Ledge, Clarksburg, Mon

The Grand Master issued his permit for the laying of corner-stones as follows: A female college at Liberty, Mo., addition to Howard College, Fayette, Mo., college at Steelville, Mo., college at West Plains, Mo., schoolhouse at Monett, Mo., Masonic ball at Walnu Grove, Mo.

A number of lodges have been most unfortunate during the past year in the loss of halls, property and charters by fires. It, therefore, became necessary for the Grand Master to officially direct the issuance of duplicate charters to the following lodges: Madison Lodge, No. 91, Madison, Monroe County; De Witt Lodge, 91, Madison, Monroe County; De Witt Lodge, No. 39, De Witt, Carroll County; Bogard Lodge, No. 101, Bogard, Carroll County; Williamsville Lodge, No. 107, Williamsville, Wayne County; Osborn Lodge, No. 307, Osborn, De Kalb County; Ravanna Lodge, No. 258, Ravanna, Mercer Caunty; Lock Spring Lodge, No. 488, Lock Spring, Daviess County.

GROWTH OF THE ORDER.

The Grand Secretary is supposed to be in possession of facts and figures to indicate the growth and general condition of the craft in the jurisdiction. This information is gluaned from an examination of the returns received from the lodges and from comparing them with the figures of last year. Taking these points as guides I announce that the Masonic year just closed has no equal in our history for numerical increase. The largest number of initiations, passings and raisings have been reported by the lodges of any year in the past. These exceed the work of last year by several nundred. This shows the largest amount of work ever done in one year by our Missouri lodges. The gain over losses by deaths, ausand the raisings amounted to more than fourteen hundred. This shows the largest amount of work ever done in one year by our Missouri lodges. The gain over losses by deaths, suspensions, expulsions, suspensions for nonpsyment of dues and dimissions, amounts to eight hundred. Affiliations and reinstateincreases added to the number raised show an aggregate gain of 2,685, less the number lost by deaths, suspensions, etc. This loss amounted to 1,868, leaving a clear gain of over eight hundred. This number added to footings of last year, gives us a total membership of nearly 28,000. This does not include the four lodges which have not raported their members. It also leaves out of the calculation the membership of fifteen lodges under dispensation, with a known membership of 361, and an estimated membership of about 100 from non-reporting lodges, which shows an admitted membership of over 28,000. Thus it is seen that the growth of the which shows an admitted membership of over 28,000. Thus it is seen that the growth of the Fraternity has been steady and very satisfactory as to numbers in our Grand Jurisdiction. The increase of the Brotherhood keeps pace with the growth of the Commonweaith, and this preves that it is a needed element in our progress and civilization.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS

The Attractions Drawing Handson Events Promised for Next Week. Mantell's engagement at the Olympic is fo abead of any previous engagement of this popular star in the part. The production of "The Corsican Brothers" has at last proved popular. The sale is large for the remainder of the week. The only change of bill will take place on Saturday, when "Hamlet" will be produced, with Mr. Mantell in the title role and Mr. Guy Lindsley as Lacrtes. The remarkable feat of Galloway, the ladder balancer, and the entertaining features of Herrmann's Transatiantiques give the Grand a popular attraction this week.

For next week the Olympic will have an attraction which needs no introduction in J. K. Emmet, who will be seen in the play which made such a great success last season. The advance sale of seats opens to-morrow.

Emma Abbott presents an unusually attractive repertoire for her visit to St. Louis, including certain operas that have rarely, if euer, been presented in the city. First of these is "Ernani," Verdi, a masterly creation, as brilliant in music as is the story upon which it is rounded. It is prodigious in its ensemble parts, the plot moving rapidly and unfolding with exciting interest. It has been referred to as "a triumph in tragedy," and "the most notable production Emma Abbott ever brought out." "Norma" has rarely been given here, and "Masked Ball," which wish the mad seene from "Hamlet" forms the bill for Friday night, is also a novelty credited to the present season. The advance sale of seats for the engagement will open at the box office of the Grand Opers-house to-morrow.

The next attraction at Havlin's, opening Sunday matinee, and for which the reserved seat sale commences to-morrow morning, will be J. H. Wallick in his successful equestian play, "The Cattle King." Mr. Wallick stands foremost in his presentation of this class of plays, and is ored tited with giving a much bet.

foremost in his presentation of this class of plays, and is credited with giving a much bet ter production this year than ever before During the present week "McCarthy's Mis haps" is giving bright entertainment. Ther will be a matinee performance to-morrow afternoon.

"Alvin Joslin" is proving a good drawing card for Pope's, and Miss Alastic Vickers comes next week, opening with the regular Sunday matinee. The reserved seat sale opens at the box-office to-morrow morning. Miss Vickers will be seen here in her three favorite comedies, "Jacquine," "Idleweiss" and "Cherub," opening in the former and closing in the latter.

"Am Irishman's Love," which is running smoothly at the Standard, will be followed next week by Gray & Stephene in their play "Vesper Bells and Old Oaken Bucket."

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

Lively Night Chase After the Robbers Who Were Quickly Run to Earth. Shortly after 1:30 o'clock this morning Ru-dolph Colboean, living at 210 North Thirteenth street, was held up at the corner of Eleventh and Washington avenue, while on his way home. Three negroes sprang upon him from a dark doorway and planed him to the ground before he could offer the least resistance. While one of the negroes held him down another gagged him negroes held him down another gagged him with handkerchief, while the third went through his pockets. A purse containing about $6 was at last brought to light. The negroes grabbed this and ran down Elevents street. Colboen at once shouted as aisrn. Officer Tierney of the Third District was just around the corner. Learning what had happened he gave chase to the negroes. At Eleventh and St. Charles streets he fired a shot at the retreating figures, which had the effect of bringing Charles McDonaid to a hait. The other negroes disappeared. In a few minutes a number of officers were on the scene. McDonaid was forwarded to the Third District Station, while the officers arranged for a thorough search of the neighborhood, being satisfied that the negroes had hidden as soon as they heard the shot. This surmise was entirely correct. In less than five minutes George Williams was found by Officers Tierney and D. McGuire in the alley between Sixth, Seventh, O'Fallon and Cass avenue. Williams submitted to arrest without resistance. A short time afterward John Newton alias Henry, was seen by the same officers on the corner of Third and Valentine streets. Newton led the patrelmen a short chase, but was overtaken and lodged in the holdover. Colboean appeared at the Third District Station later in the day and positively identified all of the prisoners as his assailants of a few hours before. Warrante charging them with robbery in the first degree will be sworn out some time this afternoon. with handkerchief, while the third went

Will Be Presented to the Grand-Jury,

It was said to-day that the assault made by Tom Martin, a member of the Republican City Central Cómmittee, on Martin Henry in front of the Grand Operahouse about six weeks ago had not been heard of for the last time, but on acbeen heard of for the last time, but on account of politics would be presented to the Grand-jury. Martin and Henry had had a quarrel, and they met in front of the latter's saloon, on Market street, just east of the Grand Opera-house, when the theater was letting out and the pavement was crowded with people. Their quarrel cuiminated there and Martin drew a revolver and shor at Henry three or four times. They were both arrested, gave ball and were released. That was thought to be the end of it, for ne one supposed that Henry would prosecute the case. It seems now, however, that some of Martin's political adversaries are going to see to it that the case is presented to the Grand-Jury for the purpose of having a Rapublican City Central Committeeman ladicted. WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15 .- Consul Phillip Carroll at Palermo, Sicily, will probably be transferred to some place beyond Italy, he Italian Government and Municipality of Pal-Italian Government and Municipality of Palermo, on the atrength of his communication to the State Department. The Italian Government, enceuraged by the prompt recognition by our Government of the fact that Consul Carrell had ceased to be a useful as well as an acceptable representative of his country, formally asked for his recall without subjecting him to the privation of his exceptable. At first it was supposed that the State Department was mainly responsible for the unpressant pohis recall without subjecting him to the privation of his ex-equator. At first it was supposed that the State Department was mainly responsible for the unpleasant position in which it had placed its Consul, but its learned that the rumors concerning the alleged reappearance of brigandage in Sicily and in other parts of Italy are absolutely faise. The official reports of the local authorities unanimously declare that no special act of brigandage has ever been perpetrated in Falermo, still less so in the vicinity of Rome and Florence. True, some excitement prevailed in Falermo on account of the kidnapping of Mr. Arrigo, a land-owner in the district of Termini, but he was immediately released and the kidnapers were arrested and are now under trial. Florence is a speaceful and safe as usual. The only way to account for the robbeties which have recently occurred in the Roman provinces is this, that a few scattered high waymen, by no means organized in bands, have taken advantage here and there of the special and favorable circumstances both of time and place. Moreover, the statistical returns on crime, as compared with those of foregoing years, go to prove that the number of misdemeanors of this kind has not increased and that all rumors concerning them are exagerated and groundless. Under the circumstances, therefore, our Government has nothing elise to do but to recall Consul Carroll, whose efficiency as a business man commends him still to the good will of the Secretary, and this will probably be recognized and Consul Carroll, whose efficiency as a business man commends him still to the good will of the Secretary, and this will probably be recognized and Consul Carroll, whose efficiency as a business man commends him still to the good will of the Secretary, and this will probably be recognized and Consul Carroll, whose efficiency as a business man commends him still to the good will of the Secretary, and this will probably be recognized and Consul Carroll, whose

Leave Georgia. ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 15 .- It would seem that the enemies of the law, or the land grabbers of Dodge and other counties, have the floor. The killing of Capt. J.C. Forsythe a few nights ago, has brought about another matter of interest in connection with their troubles. It is learned that Messrs. James and Michael Brophy, who have been managing the turpoatine and mercantile departments of the Normandale Lumber Co., near Normandale, have been forced to leave. Threats, it is said, were made against these gentlemen and their lives would have been sacrificed as was that of Capt. Forsythe. Mr. James Brophy has been shot at several times and the land grabbers held a secret meeting at which Mr. Brophy was condemned and his life plotted against.

Sohn and Mohrman were arrested yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Schmittgens of the Second District and Officer Boland of the Fifth. They were found in the company of an intoxicated countryman in a doorway on Spruce street near Tenth. At the Four Courts the countryman gave his name as Jules Holveck. As soon as Holveck became sober it was learned that Sohn and Mohrman had robbed him of a railroad ticket to Kokomo, Ili., and a small amount of money. Another ticket was found on Mohrman, who insisted he had purchased it at his home in Southwest Missouri. Holveck would not stay in the city to prosecute the priseners for larceny and the prosecute the prisoners for largery and the vagrancy charge was put against them.

A plan will probably be decided upon for canvassing the whole of Carondelet by the united efforts of all the Sunday-schools connected with the union, both to find the percentage of children who attend Sunday-school and to invite all who do not to attend such Sunday-school as they may select, and also to invite their parents to attend some church service. All interested are invited to attend this meeting.

Private Wire to J. P. Grier. Private Wire to J. P. Grier.

CHICAGO. Oct. 15.—The wheat market opened firm, with fairly good buying on the advance of half a cent. say from $1.03 to $1.034. A local operator sold considerable, on the decline and under $1.03. The selling by Hutchinson was heavy and the crowd helped him. Outside business is light and it is a necessity to give us higher prices.

Corn was moderately active, with fractional fluctuations. Oats have been in good demand and the receiving houses the principal buyers.

Provisions ruled quiet, with a very light trade. Packers were sellers of pork and lard. Liberal receipts of hogs causes a weak feeling.

trong Probability That a Clab-House Will Be Erected at a Cost of $300,000-Some Things in Which St. Louis Leads the Country-Progress Which Justifies Pride. The scheme to form a manufacturers' club in this city is meeting with hearty and spontaneous approval by nearly all the wide-awake manufacturers of the city, 150 of whom met in the Mercantile Club-house last night to discuss the proposition. E. K. Holton was made chairman. J. B. Case, President of the Mercantile Club, was called upon to express his views, and did so, saying the thought he saw the necessity of a manufacturers' club in this city-not club as a place to lounge in, but where the manufacturers of the city could meet and become personally acquainted with each other. He said it need not necessarily follow that men in the same line of business should be enemies, but on the contrary it has been shown that it was better for all if they were all together in the same neighborhood. With a club, all freight rate questions could be brought before the members there in a body and a board of arbitration could settle many disputes and difficulties as a board of that character does in the Merchants' Exchange The Mercantile Club, Mr. Case said, would give the new club a home if it needed one in the start as the Shaw estate had made an offer of the corner of Seventh and Locust streets for ninety-nine years, on a lease, and should the offer be accepted the Mercantile Club would put up,a $300,000 building in which the Manufacturers' could also have its quarters. As the meeting was held merely to discuss the proposition nothing was done. It adjourned to mee again at the call of the chair.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS. Among the addresses delivered was one by John H. Terry, which contained a great amount of information about St. Louis busi ness. Mr. Terry said:

I honestly believe St. Louis has a population of 500,000 souls. These people living in St. Louis own real and personal property assessed at nearly $300,000,000, and that amount, large as the figures may appear, does not represent more than 65 per cent of the true market value of their possessions in this city. Real estate and manufactures have been and still continue to be the corner-stone, the very foundation in fact of all this prosperity and wealth. In the encouragement and fostering care of manufacturing establishments no one takes a more active part, or is more vitally interested than the real estate agent and operator, and I believe it will not be disputed that no citizen is more ready than they to sid every new industry that seeks a place in St. Louis. To this public spirit may be attributed much of the credit carned by the city as one of the greatest manufacturing centers of fibe country—a credit which will be accorded to it for the first time which will be accorded to it for the first time which will be accorded to it for the first time which the world.

It is time that the newspaper reading public of the leading cities of the world should know, in a general way, that this is the best paved city on the continent, with more than four hundred miles of paved streets and alleys, and that over $500,000 is expended annually in maintaining them. Comparatively few people know that St. Louis has paid upwards of $5,000,000 within the past decade for the reconstruction of streets and that the work is still going on. Who more than real estate agents have combatted with property-owners and importuned legislators unceasingly, and the thanks they have for their pains is the conscious honor of having done all they could to help their city in its onward progress, until now your report-will place, it among the first of the great manufacturing centers.

In many industries St. Louis is in advance of all other points.

In the manufacture of bobacco we lead the country.

With a capital of nearly $6,000,000 in the lindustry I honestly believe St. Louis has a popula tion of 500,000 souls. These people living in of all other points.

In the manufacture of tobacco we lead the country.

With a capital of nearly $6,000,000 in the industry we paid the National Government a revenue tax of $3,600,000 last year, the output of our various factories in that line being $4,000,000 pounds.

St. Louis has the largest brewery in the world, its principal concern making 1,000,000 barrels last year. This industry has been of great benefit to real estate. It has been the menns of bringing here about $10,000,000 in British money, paid to local brewers for their plants, and these enterprising citizens who amassed their wealth in this city have already reinvested a very large portion of the money in real estate.

Cheap coal delivered within the ten-mile radius at $40 cents a bushel, and cheap water has made these things possible, and the cost of them bids fair to be reduced for the completion of the Merchants' Bridge and tarminals at a cost of $5,000,000 exclusive of a right of way, and the new water-works, with a daily capacity of 100,000,000 gallons, which will cost the city $4,000,000, must make these requirements cheaper to manufacturers.

The construction of this Merchants' Bridge has had a wonderfully beneficial offect upon all real estate. The company has been a heavy buyer of property for the depot and right-of-way purposes, their purchases doubtless having already reached late millious of dollars. This enterprise has made it possible for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Rallroad Co. eacher the city, and that great road alone filed deeds at one time, a little more than a year ago, aggregating nearly $4,000,000 in the purchase of property for right of way and depot purposes, and the great Pennsylvania Railway Co. is not far behind them in the amount of St. Louis property secured for terminals.

In saddlery St. Louis controls the trade of the whole Southwest. A business of upwards of $3,500,000 was done in this line last year on an estimated capital of $1,500,000 invested in that industry.

stimated capital of $1,500,000 invested in that industry.

In the manufacture of boots and shoes 8t. Louis is making wonderful strides, and soon will pass all other centers in that industry. I presume no other industry among us has made such rapid advances within the past three years. Its effect on real estate has been quite marked. Look at the immense manufactories that have been built up here in that time. Remember, as you see these great buildings with thousands of toilers inside, that a few years ago there was nothing in 8t. Louis to attract attention to that branch. Then walk into the firs to ten-story wholesale store rooms of the boot and shoemen of to-day, watch the business they transact there and then some idea may be formed of the immense growth of this industry.

The turniture manufacturers too occurs.

wholesale store rooms of the boot and showmen of to-day, watch the business they transact there and then some idea may be formed of the immense growth of this industry.

The furniture manufacturers, too, occupy prominent positions.

Eighty-five per cent of the lead product of Missouri, an output greater than that of all the other States of the Union, is manufactured here into white lead, shot and lead pipe, only about 10 per cent of it being shipped away in pig.

Our fire-clay industry is the greatest in the country and employs a capital of $3,000,000.

I might occupy your time in aliuding to many other industries in which St. Louis leads all competitors, but suffice it to say that our manufactures have peopled the city, created a demand for its real estate, made it the great commercial metropolis that it is, have constantly enhanced the value of its realty more than any other indience, thereby being most potent in bringing capital here from Chicago and other cities coth East and West, where it has been invested with much profit in various enterprises.

We see our street railway system valued at $16,000,000. Last year they carried close on to $0,000,000 passengers. Four of the lines have lately cabled. Before the year closes another, the Broadway line, thirteen miles long, making the fifth, will be in operation. In addition to this there is the Union Depot electric line, twenty-seven miles long, and the Lindell electric system, forty-five miles long, will be in full operation within a month. By the end of another year all our horse-car lines now undergoing reconstruction will be operated by electricity, when St. Louis will have slid miles, single track, of the best equipped street railways in the world.

Every feature of this devolopment comes from a liberal policy in the management of real estate interests, but I am sorry to say the value of real property is behind in the race. Although our sales of real estate are steady on the increase, conservative ideas boid prices down, and in that again is seen an advant present year.

We have seen $3,000,000 invested in a municipal descrite plarate ight our streets exclusively by that method of illumination, and the gleam of its 50,000 lamps I look upon as but a faint ray of the coming greatness of this metropolis of the Missiasippi Valley.

St. Louis, Oct. 8, 1890.

We are in receipt of $929.80, in full payment of our claim against the Mutual Artisans' Intion of our loss in the fire of Sept. 14 ult. We ake pleasure in expressing our thanks for the very prompt and satisfactory manner in which it has settled our claim. O. H. PECKHAN CANDY MANUFATURING CO., GBO. O. PECKHAM, Vice-President.

DEFENDS HIS RECORD.

SPRINTER OWEN REPLIES TO A CHARGE THAT HE BEAT THE PISTOL.

Can De So Again—The Browns Badly Walloped at Louisville Yesterday— Eneing at Morris Park and Latenia—

the championship meeting Union held in Washington on Saturday, was in this city yesterday. Speaking of the charges made by "Lon" Meyers, the proothers to the effect that he beat the pistol in the final heat of the 100-yards run, which he ran in 9 4-5s., Owen said: "The statement made by Meyers and others that I beat the pistol is absolutely untrue. I did not leave my mark until Mr. Turner bad fired the pistol and all the other men were in motion. Mr. Meyers says I was leading Carey at the twenty-five yards mark by two yards, and that there is not a man living who could beat the Manhattan man that distance in such s short sprint unless he beat the pistol. If I was leading by two yards, as Mr. Meyers says, how was it I was behind Carey when we passed the fifty yards mark, and that I did not get ahead of him until the seventy-five not get ahead of him until the seventy-five yards mark was reached? Can Mr. Meyers explain this? It is an actual fact that I did not catch Carey until we passed the seventy-five yard mark, as I said before, and there are numbers of people who are ready to corrober-rate my statement."

Owen is confident he can defeat Carey or Westing, at any time, and is equally positive that he can cover the distance in the same time.

Breaking Bicycle Records

Not content with such an exceptional run of record breaking as he had already accomplished, H. Parsons, the famous English plished, H. Parsons, the famous English safety rider, attempted to lower all safety records up to fifty miles at the Paddington track on Sept. 25. A slight breeze was blowing, but with the aid of Paddington's best riders as pacemakers he rode 21 miles 690 wards in the first hour, 20 miles 1,090 yards in the second and 19 miles 875 yards in the third hour. He began to establish records at 23 miles, being then a minute inside the record. After that the old records were easily demoished. McGready's 40-mile time dropped 3m. 40 3-5s., and the 50-mile record was lowered just 4½ m. Desiring to establish records to 60 miles, something never before done on a safety, Parsons continued his ride ten miles longer, and then retired the happy holder of these new records:

Several attempts were made to lower records at the same grounds on the previous Saturday, but, owing to a strong head wind which prevailed, all but the tandem safety riders had to retire defeated. R. H. Lloyd made a bid for safety records, but, after traveling twenty-three miles, gave it up as a bad job, and then E. E. Giover and S. E. Williams went for tandem safety records. They began to lower records at six miles, and were on the thirteenth mile when they had to stop on account of a loses tire. Nevertheless they succeeded in establishing these records:

Lexington on Nov. 19, will have the important question of the mile rule to discuss and settle in some way or other. The violation of that rule in some way or other. The violation of that rule and the prevalence of six and seven furiong dashes will have to be explained. While it is generally supposed by turfmen that the rule rule is the right thing it undoubtedly hurt New Orleans, Latonia and St. Louis. If she Eastern and Western turimen can mest half way good results may be obtained.

noteworthy for the simpetying reversals of recent public form. No one can forget how handsome a race was won by Baceland en Wednesday of last week, when he won the Manhattan Handlong, defeating Firenal, Senorita, Diablo and others. Nevertheless, an animal that bore some remote resemblance to Mr. Belmont's famous gelding, and was called by the same name on the plogramme, was shockingly and disgracefully beaten by Eon in the first race yesterday. This so-called Raceland was the favorite at $\frac{1}{2}$ to 10. No one on earth had previously supposed that Eon was in the genuine Raceland's class. The Raceland that came on the track and took part in this affair must have been a mere counterfeit, a mere imitation of the Raceland who has won so many renowned victories. Of gourse it could not be the same horse. In the Dummow Stakes on Wednesday Salile McClelland, carrying 129 pounds, beat La Tosca, carrying 110, by a nack at six furiongs. Yesterday in the Fashion Stakes affly, chestout in color like the true Salile, resembling the genuine Salile in form, shape and action, ridden by the same jockey, and carrying the same simple and action, ridden by the same jockey, and carrying the same weight, made the most woulf alliure of her efforts to run and actually was only fifth, while a filly that was the perfect image in every way of the La Tosca that ran second on Wednesday and on Thursday. On Wednesday Kingatock was an even money favorite, but could not get a place. Yesterday the betting was 3 to 1 against him, and Kingstock, or some horse that looked much like him and bore his name, displayed a fine flash of speed at the finish of the last race and wen with no difficulty at all.

Money in Cast-Off Horses.

The big sales of horses from the Belmont Scott and other crack stables now going on have set all of the hangers-on of the turf on the edge, says the New York World. These gentlemen occupy the position of men who have nothing to lose and everything to gain, and hence their hopes run high. Every once in a while one of them succeeds in scraping together $100 and buving a yearling or 2-year-old when the big stables are weeded out, and often enough these cast-off youngsters develop into mighty racers and make their masters rich. The great Tenny was soid by Mr. Scott for $400, and he has made at least three men rich since. Of course the proportion of auction soid horses which turn out fast is very small, but a winner means a tremendous prize in the lottery of the turf, and hence the hope and ambition of peverty stricken but ambitious investors. the edge, says the New York WORLD. The fight, which is for a purse of $500 will occur before the Magic City Club next Tuesday night, the 21st inst. A number of St. Louis people will leave here Monday night to attend the fight. A poor man went up to two well-known men just as they were going out of, the Exposition yesterday. He asked for alme, when one of the men commenced with "Gold and silver have I none," at the same time slyly winking at his companion. Very quickly the begar replied: "Well then, mister, let it be a nickel." He got it.

In view of all these things there is always considerable interest attached to any demonstration made by the Masonic order, and whenever they do things they are done in style. There is never any half-way work about their enterprises. The exhibition bear this out. The members of the organiza-tion decided to display some tableaux. When they gave orders for the tableaux they stipu lated that they must be something particu-larly fine. And so they will be. They will be among the finest tableaux ever put on a stage here. There will be a number of them and for the tableaux in themselves will be well worth a visit to the bridging. It is safe to pre-dict that the attendance will be enormous. There will be few beautiful tableaux to-night showing the principles of the order.

There will be few beautiful tableaux to-night showing the principles of the order.

The was American Legion of Honor night at the Exposition last evening and the members of the erder did themselves proud. They were out in force; so were their friends, and so were other Exposition goers. The performance given by the order liself took place on the stage of the was weath seat being visible anywhere. These people seemed to enjoy them, however, as they saughed heartily and the others who were further back and could not hear took it for granted, that like Mr. Rellly of hotel fame the troupe was doing will. Their performance concluded with slinging an American Legion of Honor as-ine the programs and displayed a very beautiful figure, the American flag being iteld up by their swords. Dr. Engelbert Voerster's "Love Calls My Soul" was played as a flugel horn solo by Herr Ritze, and the last selection on the programme was Charles Kunkel's popular composition, "Southern Joilhfeation." It will be seen, therefore that St. Louis composers countributed four of the twelve selections on the programme for the two concerts last evening. All the local composers who contributed to the programme were present too, and each had the plessure of observing that his work scored a pronounced hit. In fact, nearly all the local musicians are nightly attendants at the concerts of the band and they are all most entinesistic admirers of Col. Glimore.

enthusiastic admirers of Col. Glimore.

Col. Glimore has been giving entirely new selections this week. Nearly every composition in the programme is played for the first time by the band, or the first time in 8t. Louis or the first time here this season. Aside from the solos there are only one or two pieces in the programme for both the afternoon and evening concerts to-day which have ever been performed this season by the band. The attendance keeps up wonderfully and this year will certainly sellipse all others. To-morrow nights the United Turners will again be seen and Friday night the new scenery of the Music Hail will be shown for the first time. Saturday night will be closing night and there will be the usual big programme.

The programme for this evening is as follows:

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Drawings of Doubles and Singles-St. Louis Tennis Club-Fall Tournament.

Play in the annual fall tournament of the St. Louis Tennis Club began at the club grounds yesterday afternoon. The tournament is for both singles and doubles, and the prizes in the former a challenge medal and in the latter rackets. The conditions of the tournament place it open to all players in St. Louis City and county and a large number of players outside of the club take part. The games, especially towards the latter part of the week, when the poorer players will have been dropped, are apt to be of an excellent character. The complete score will be contained in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. The following is the drawing:

A SAD CASE OF POVERTY.

A Needy and Deserving Family Traveling to

Of all the destitute people that have ever fallen on the police for protection in this city the most forsaken and destitute people that have ever been seen called at the Chestnut asked Sergt. Wray for help. They were three and a young woman. The blind woman gave her name as Mrs. Ella Wilkinson and the crippied child Roseanna, aged 14 years, her daughter and the other woman, May Hill, aged 24 years, as her half-sister. The trio resided in Boston and left there two weeks ago for Kansas City to visit relatives of Mr. Wilkinson, who is now deceased. They traveled on boat from Beston to de Battimore and from the latter place took a train for St. Louis. The little money they had played out and they were carried on through the good will of the railway officials. When they arrived at this city they found it impossible to be carried further West and concluded to walk the baiance of the way, as they detested the idea of begging. After running around town all morning they finally reached Chestnut Street Police Station, where the kind-hearted Sergt. Wray and Turnkey Burns kindly looked after them. Provisions were purchased for them and the trio without a second invitation pitched into them unceremonlously. The police started a little fund for the unfortunates and in less than two hours nearly 55 was raised. Sergt. Wray kept them over signa. The women, despite their poverty, are dressed neatly and clean and deserve aid to help them to their destination.
